

New Programmer Support Information

The following list of Atmel-certified programmer vendors and programmers are those which are evaluated by Atmel for all additions and changes of all EPLD devices manufactured by Atmel.

In addition to the programmer vendors on this list, there are many others that have requested and received programming specifications for at least some of Atmel EPLDs. While it is likely that the algorithms have been implemented properly in these programmers, resource limitations prevent Atmel from confirming this for each and every one of these programmers. There is a notification system that is used to advise these vendors of any and all changes to the algorithms they have requested and previously been sent.
